

4 Tools You Need for 2019

To Take Your Side Hustle Game Up a Notch

Teachable

I had never used Teachable until I created my Affiliate Starter Guide course last year and after creating the content, it was so easy to upload it to the platform, set a price and start promoting it. You can even start with a free plan.

Side Hustle Tip: Is there a question or two you get asked all the time? Have you been wanting to share your knowledge so that it can reach more people? Start writing down the steps and use Teachable to create a course.

Canva

I've been using this tool more and more to make graphics for blog posts and social media. It comes with templates to start from so it's pretty easy to create some great things even for the design-challenged like myself.

Side Hustle Tip: Purchase these Canva Social Media Templates that have pre-made designs for social media and content upgrades that you can go in and edit with your images and branding.

Loom

This is one of my favorite Chrome extensions and it's a tool that makes it super duper easy to record your screen with sound and a little video of you (or just your voice). And it's FREE.

Side Hustle Tip: Use Loom to make how-to videos for your clients or blog posts or use it to send personalized welcome messages to folks who buy your course.

Shine

Can't side hustle without a little self-care right? This app has been a game-changer with its daily motivations and quick hit audios to start and end my day.

Side Hustle Tip: Grab the app and take the 7 Days to Starting a Side Hustle Challenge.
